DESCRIPTION

The day-bed is conceived as a sober elegant piece, with no decoration. This stylish piece of furniture beautifully represents our idea of luxury craftsmanship, custom design, handmade and made in Italy, where the knowledge of the artisans of stone finds new light and expression in a piece of overwhelmingly contemporary design. The project by Charlotte Juillard associates the solid lava stone structure, extracted from the quarries around Vesuvius, and handcrafted by the workers of Ranieri Lava Stone, with the excellence of the Rubelli velvet craftsmanship for the seat and the cushion, while the support is forged in steel with a total black gloss finish.

DISCLAIMER

Lava Stone is a natural product and could present itself with slight imperfections that are not homogeneous. The glazing and decorating of the stone is done by hand and the firing process takes place at temperatures of approx. 1000°C. Slight imperfections or variation in shade certify the handmade nature of this product.

Glazed lava samples may vary in pigment, and the glaze could present some fine cracks, particularly in surfaces which have been cut from larger slabs. In certain cases we send out control samples in the desired thickness to ensure a similar finish at the time of order.
